A REMINDER FROM THE LAW TODAY

In a recent article, the head of the civil division of the United States Department of Justice is quoted as saying that, in order to keep insurance costs under control, a cap should be put on the amount of money which a tort victim may be awarded for such things as pain and suffering and the mental distress which often accompanies severe and debilitating physical injury. This attitude has become widespread, and is deeply disturbing. What big business and many of the politicians have failed to business and many of the point and the realist the recognize is the simple reality that if products were made safe, workers were provided with proper equipment, and more attention was paid to the well-being of the public than to the profit margin, the cost of litigation and the cost of insurance would immediately go down. Not surprisingly, the same groups whose 'reforms' would limit your right to groups whose "reforms" would limit your right to fully recover for wrongs committed against you have said nothing about meeting their own responsibility to help prevent injuries from happening in the first place. Remember, the bottom line is: who's looking out for your interests?

New funding program enables business to join market

Opportunities, for employment and job creation in Illinois are more dependent upon interna-tional markets, Ll. Gov. George H. Ry an told e conomic developers, educators and in-dustrialists at a small business development seminar recently at SUIF.

development series.
SIUE.
"Perhaps more than in many ther states, the leaders of Illinois the imporother states, the leaders of illinois have long recognized the impor-tance of exports to the state's overall economy," he said. "Our state ranks number one in overall economy," he sau.

"Our state ranks number one in agricultural exports and third among the states in exports of manufactured goods," Ryan said. The $19 billion in exports realized by the state translates into 500,000 jobs, he said.

As the chairperson for the state's Small Business Advisory Council, the Illinois Export Council and the newly established Illinois Export Development Authority, Ryan said the biggest problem facing small businesses and medium-sized exporters wishing to compete in the world in the state of the state of the world business of the world business of the world business of the world the world marketplace," he said.

Illinois has more than 255,000 small business firms, representing more than 90 percent of all business in the state.

"These s mall businesses employ 68 percent of the state's entire work force," he said.

These same businesses will generate approximately 80 percent of the 553,000 projected new jobs in the state by 1990, he said.

"Illinois has long held a substantial international presence in the state had been to be supported in the state of the said there exists an enormous virtually untapped job generating source in the small and medium business sector.

Recognizing that small businesses had been stymied in their efforts to obtain low-risk financing for international sales, Ryan said the Illinois Export Development Authority has developed a program for providing a state-based financing mechanism for small and mulus-sixed businessed the new program will provide many benefits to the small business community seeking to compete in world markets, including:

A competitive cost of money;
Fixed-interest rate funding for the life of a loan;
Access to a new and substantial

United Way volunteers study agenies

Local volunteers are visiting each United Way member agency during March and April to assess the programs and services funded with monies raised by the United the programs and spirit to sacks the programs and services funded Way campaign.

"United Way volunteers believe that they have a community responsibility to ensure that the funds raised in the annual campaign are wisely, honestly and efficiently spent. The volunteers see themselves "The volunteers see themselves" in the recipients of service too. From this vantage point, they seek a partnership with agencies to assure both funding and delivery of services," said Eric Robertson, president of the United Way, as a growing viable agent in the community, has been redefining its overall role and refining the techniques it uses in allocating funds to supported agencies and programs. The strength of United Way lies in the fact that all of the policies or our local United way lies in the fact that all of the policies or our local United Way lies in the fact that all of the policies or our local United Way lies in the fact that all of the policies or our local United Way lies in the fact that all of the policies or our local United Way lies in the fact that all of the policies or our local United Way lies in the fact that all of the policies or our local United Way lies in the fact that all of the policies or our local United Way lies in the fact that all of the policies are made by volunteers," Robertson said.

Dennis Orsey, chairman for the Allocations Committee this year, explained his views of what the process involves:

East St. Louis flies past Trojan hurlers

By Gary King Staff writer MADISON — If the Trojans of Madison had been playing a football game, they could have been proud of the outcome against East St. Louis Thursday. Unfortunately, though, this contest was held on a baseball diamond rather than a great Madison haseball team with little room for anything but embarrassment. East St. Louis posted a football-like score as they pounded Madison for 12 hits, while allowing only three, en route to a 24-0 shellacking of the Trojans. with a single into center.

Price, an all-metro quarterback for the Flyer football team, was nearly flawless on the mound as he limited Madison to three hits while striking out three and giving up only two walks in the ballgame.

Spraggins said some of the blame for the inexperience on the Trojan squad can be attributed to the fact that there is not a feeder program on the junior high level. Spraggins thinks this is the main reason his squad is fundamentally weak in hitting and fielding.

But the first-year Madison coach is hoping to initiate such a program in the near future, hopefully as early as next spring.

The Trojans will be looking for their first win of the season Thurs-day when they face Assumption at home. Action is set to begin at 4

AmBASSadors help 'Jerry's kids Byron Wilson; Dewayne Davidson and Terry Young; and Joe Hubbard and Frank Mitch and Frank Mitc

The Fishermen's AmBASSador's Association headquartered out of Freeburg enjoyed its largest turnout in club history as fishermen convened from eight states to try their fishing skills to benefit "Jerry's Kids."
Some $50 boats registered for the FAA fish-off held Sunday, March 22 limits. Sove ver, due to souther the states of the southernous turnout, the fish-off was limited to a 150-boat field with 570 entries being turned away due to the size of the lake.
Up for grabs as some $3,200 in eash with approximately $10,000 being awarded to the top 15 teams at the event that saw 20 percent of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, which totaled $1,760.
